

NO MORE PLACES IN LINE

EVACUATION DAY'S GREAT PROCESSION NOW FILLED OUT.

SOME OF THE ORGANIZATIONS THAT WILL PARADE — THE PROGRAMME OF THE WATER DISPLAY DECIDED UPON.

No more applications will be received for places in the line of the Evacuation Day parade. The committee in charge have made arrangements for all they can conveniently handle. They estimate that between 25,000 and 40,000 men will participate. It has also been decided not to change the hour for starting on the ground that it would be impossible to divide the day between the land and water pageants, and that even if this could be accomplished it would be a matter of great difficulty to manage the spectators, of whom it is believed over 2,000,000 will be present in the City on Monday next. The latter will therefore have to choose which they would prefer to witness, and content themselves with reading an account of the other in Tuesday morning's newspapers. The committee will endeavor to devise some plan, by means of special carriages, or otherwise, whereby the President and a few other of the more distinguished guests may be present at both reviewing stands, but this is all they hope to do. Indeed, they rather favor the idea of simultaneous double parade as calculated to divide the crowd, which otherwise might prove too unwieldy. The programme of the street parade, with the order of the various bodies in line, is now in course of preparation and will be issued this afternoon. The Governors of New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and Maine, have formally accepted the committee's invitation to be present, and will be given precedence in the order named. Ex-Governors Cornell, Seymour, Fish, Tilden, Robinson, Hoffman, Hunt and Fenton are also expected to be present; and so also are the two living Ex-Presidents, Grant and Hayes.

Among the applications for recognition which were received yesterday and favorably acted upon were those of the Mayor and Common Council of Long Island City, the New-York Real Estate and Traders' Exchange, Big 6 Company, old Volunteer Fire Department; the Veterans of the Twenty-third and Thirteenth Regiments, N. G. S. N. Y., of Brooklyn; the Paterson Light Infantry Veterans, the First Pennsylvania Regiment, N. G. S. Penn.; Massachusetts Commandery, G. A. R.; Vermont Commandery, G. A. R.; the Rhode Island Historical Society, the Veteran Colored Guard, 100 strong; the Union Veteran Army, of Jersey City, 50 strong; the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Sachems of Tammany Hall, the color guard of the Washington Light Infantry, of Charleston, who will carry a flag borne by the troop in the War of the Revolution; the Order of American Mechanics, 500 strong; Jackson Hose Company, No. 5, of Long Island City; the Journeymen Tailors, the Journeymen Stonecutters, and Evangelist Lodge, No. 600, F. and A. M.

Chief John Decker reported that he will parade 500 old Volunteer firemen in red shirts, fire hats and other paraphernalia. General Abram Daily said that 14 of the Veterans of 1812 will take part. Mr. J. Carleton Dempsey, a descendant of Guy Carleton, who surrendered the City to Washington, will ride in a carriage. An offer was received from Reading, Penn., to lend the Committee a fire engine built in 1760, but it was declined on account of being received too late. A dispatch from citizens of Watertown, N. Y., asking for a place in line, was referred to the Grand Marshal. Secretary Stevens reported that it would cost $50 to put Mr. Richardson's Washington coach in running order, to say nothing of decorations and the hire of horses and postillions. Gen. Shaier offered to provide four horses free, and after some discussion it was agreed to expend the sum needed for repairs and to detail the Continental Guards as escort to the venerable vehicle. A delegation from the Grand Army of the Republic asked for carriages for the use of their disabled members and two were allotted to each department, which will be present, making 30 in all. John Allen, United States Commissioner and Chief Superintendent of Elections in Brooklyn, preferred a similar request on behalf of the United States officers stationed in Brooklyn, but this was refused. Mr. George W. Cameron, President of the Veteran Association of the Fifth New-York Volunteers, asked for one carriage for the use of the disabled ex-members of that regiment. This was laid over.

It was decided to change the place of firing the proposed salute at sunrise on the morning of the 26th from the Battery to the old powder-house in the Central Park, which is close to McGowan's pass, through which the American Army marched to take possession of the City. A communication was received from the Chief Signal Officer at the Equitable Building announcing that he will signal the exact moment of unveiling the Washington monument from the top of the Equitable Building. It is not certain yet whether there will be any fire-works. The Unexcelled Company offered to make a discount of $1,500 if their proposal to furnish $3,500 worth of fire-works be accepted, but the committee say that unless more funds are promptly forthcoming that feature of the celebration will have to be dispensed with.

The following additional amounts were received yesterday, making a total of $6,970 to date: Cornelius Vanderbilt, $250; the Central Trust Company, $100; Falkner, Page & Co., $100; The National City Bank, $100; George C. Richardson & Co., $100; W. L. Strong & Co., $100; private, $500; the Fifth-Avenue Hotel, $100; the Astor House, $100; the Victoria Hotel, $100; the New-York Hotel, $50; various sources, $120.

The committee yesterday issued the following proclamation:

Citizens of New-York: On Monday next, the 26th of Nov. Inst., the one hundredth anniversary of the evacuation of New-York by the British, the entrance into the City of New-York by the American troops under Gen. Washington and Gov. Clinton, and the return from exile of its patriotic citizens will be commemorated with public rejoicing. The day is memorable as that of the regeneration of our City and the beginning of an era of unexampled prosperity. Decorate your houses by day and illuminate them by night. Take each your part in this memorable anniversary.

The steam vessel owners held a largely attended meeting yesterday and adopted the following programme for the parade of steam-boats and other craft on Evacuation Day as reported by the sub-Committee on Parade:

The officers of the parade shall be one Admiral—John H. Starin—one Vice-Admiral, one Rear-Admiral, 12 Commodores commanding squadrons. The Admiral to appoint such officers and such number of aides for his personal staff as he may desire.

Each Commodore to appoint such number of Captains as his squadron may require, which Captain shall be assigned to special dispatch-boats for the purpose of executing orders along the line.

Each officer shall fly the designating pennant of his rank.

Each squadron shall be designated by number, and the flag-ships shall fly their respective numbers on a white color, not less than 6 feet square, with number thereon in black, not less than 3 feet in height.

Each Commodore shall assign the position of each vessel of his squadron under general command of the Admiral.

Line to form 9:30 A. M. sharp from a barge anchored abreast of Bedloe's Island, all boats to form to the southward of said bar, e.

Upon the arrival of the Admiral's flag-ship at the head of the line, and the firing of one gun from the flag-ship, the line will move.

The course to be up the North River to a point about opposite Sixty-fifth-street. Turn to the eastward, move south near the New-York shore, round the Battery, and pass the flag-ship which shall anchor at that point and review the parade, up the East River to a point opposite Twenty-third-street Ferry. Turn to eastward and proceed down near the Brooklyn shore. Pass Governor's Island to the northward and proceed to Bay Ridge, where parade will be dismissed.

All participants in the line are to remember that an exclusive right of way is not to be assumed because of their position and that the usual care must be observed in regard to the right of ferry-boats, &c., to cross the line.

Indiscriminate blowing of whistles by boats in line is prohibited.

Each boat, however, as it comes abreast of the flag-ship in review shall salute with three short blasts. This is regarded as necessary to prevent any possible confusion with legitimate navigation signals.

Applications for tickets of admission to the Reception and promenade concert at the Seventh Regiment Armory, Monday, Nov. 26, at 9 P. M., complimentary to the visiting military organizations, must be addressed in writing to Major Lawson B. Bell, Chairman of Committee on Invitations and Admissions, No. 300 Mulberry-street, or to the Committee of Arrangements at Victoria Hotel. Cappa's Seventh Regiment Band and Gilmore's Twenty-second Regiment Band will furnish the music. There will be no dancing. Military gentlemen will appear in uniform, and will not need tickets of admission for themselves or for ladies accompanying them. Walking dress will be generally the costume of ladies present on this occasion. The doors will be open at 8:30 P. M., and admission will be at the Fourth-avenue and Lexington-avenue entrances.

The Society of the Cincinnati, which is composed of the descendants of officers of the Continental Army, met yesterday afternoon at Delmonico's to consider the invitation to occupy a place in the procession. About twenty members were present, among them being Messrs. Hamilton Fish, Sr., John Schuyler, T. W. Christy, Charles Ward, Matthew Clarkson, Edward Tappan, A. J. Clinton, Gen. Cochrane. The offer was accepted, but as the society has among its number many who are unable to stand the fatigue of the walk, only a portion of it will take part in the procession. The others will be provided with seats on the grand stand.

The committee appointed by the Produce Exchange to arrange for the celebration of the day has resolved that the new Produce Exchange building, which fronts on Bowling Green, shall be elaborately decorated with red, white, and blue bunting. A large star-spangled banner and pennant will be raised on the tower.

The Mercantile Exchange will be closed on Evacuation Day, and a delegation of leading members will appear in the parade in carriages.

The Third Battery of the Second Division of the National Guard has been ordered to assemble at its armory, in North Portland-avenue, Brooklyn, at 7 o'clock in the morning, for participation in the day's parade.

The Second Fire Zouave Veteran Association at a meeting held in Pythagoras Hall on Sunday completed arrangements for participation in the parade. It was decided to parade with the old battle flags which were carried through 24 battles. All members of the association are requested to meet at Pythagoras Hall at 7 o'clock next Monday morning, wearing the regular uniform and blue badges.

About 300 members of the old Volunteer Fire Department assembled at 193 Bowery last night in response to the call issued by ex-Chief Engineer John Decker. Nearly all the old engine and hose companies were represented. It was decided that they should participate in the Evacuation Day parade, marching in a body, dressed in their old uniforms—red shirts, black pants, and belts and fire hats. About 500 men will be in the parade. Engine Company No. 6, "Big Six," and Company No. 44, "Live Oaks," will march in the parade with the other companies. Mr. John Decker will be the Grand Marshal of this portion of the parade. Some comments were made concerning the action of Companies 6 and 44 in not adopting the old uniforms. Mr. Decker presided over the meeting and Mr. Cummings, of the old Hose Company No. 22, acted as Secretary.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for a reunion and banquet of the War Veterans of the Seventh Regiment has reported that its efforts had been most successful, and announces that the reunion will take place at Delmonico's on Saturday evening next, at 6:30. Eighty of the 200 survivors, residing in the immediate vicinity of New-York City, have responded to the invitation of the committee, and it is thought that many more will participate in the banquet and aid in making the first reunion a great success. Tickets may be purchased of Gen. E. L. Molineaux, No. 106 Fulton-street; Col. James E. Mix, Money Order Division Post Office, or of Capt. Augustus Shemmel, No. 110 Chambers-street, at a cost of $5 each. Gen. Alexander Shaier will preside at the banquet. Among those who will be present are Gens. Duryee, Molineaux, Viele, Pierson, Jardine, Fitzgerald, Nugent, Treman, Bowerman, McKibben, Foster, Wright, O'Beirne, and Henerickson, and Col. Ketchum, Mix, Clarkson, Swift, and Coster.

Among the out-of-town military organizations that have voted to participate in the parade is the Hartford City Guards and its veteran organization of Hartford, Conn. This is the "crack" company of the famous First Connecticut Regiment, and is composed of young gentlemen of the highest social position. It sent to the war of the rebellion the first company from the State enlisted for three years—Company A of the First Heavy Artillery—besides maintaining a home company which was at the time the only militia company in condition for State service. It has always been the especial pet of Hartford's best people. The Veteran Association is composed of ex-members, many of whom held commissions during the war from Generals down. No less than six Brigadier-Generals will be in the ranks, among them Gen. Dickinson, Postmaster of Hartford; Col. Barbour, commanding the First Regiment, C. N. G., and President of the Willimantic Linen Company, who is one of its Corporals; Representative-elect S. A. Hubbard, editor of the Hartford Journal, and H. T. Sperry, editor of the Hartford Post, who are privates. The Veteran Association numbers 175 men, of whom about 50 are residents of this City, occupying high positions in business circles. The New-York squad will probably arrange to give the visitors a welcome.

The Tammany Society decided at a meeting last evening to make a grand display in the parade. It is expected that at least 1,500 members will be in line, and the tallest member of the society, Commissioner Thomas S. Brennan, of the Department of Charities and Correction, will be Marshal. The society will be headed by its largest banner, borne by eight Tammany Indians dressed in war paint and feathers. After this will come the Grand Sachem, subordinate Sachems, and other officers of the society, preceded by Wisinski Newman, (bearing a liberty cap on a pole,) in carriages. A brass band will follow, and then will come a company of 50 persons dressed like the Knickerbockers of 100 years ago. Next in the line of march will be the rest of the members of the Tammany Society willing to turn out, who will be divided into 13 divisions, representing the 13 original States of the Union, each headed by a standard-bearer. The members of divisions are requested to appear in tall hats and dark clothes, and all of them who intend to participate are required to meet at the great wigwam in Fourteenth-street, near Third-avenue, on Monday morning next, at 8:30 o'clock sharp. The place of the society in line will hereafter be assigned by the Grand Marshal of the Evacuation Day parade, Gen. Cochrane.
